Dear Mr. Scott:

I have just received your letter in which you make inquiries as to the prospect of there being a vacancy in our Department of Metallurgy. There is at present no vacancy, nor as far as I can see is there any likelihood of one occurring. We are at present very efficiently manned with a staff in the vigour of their activity. If I should hear of any opening that might suit you I shall be glad to let you know. At any time in the future I shall be glad to hear from you. It is now many years since I last saw you.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.
